Arrowwood District School Fair on Sept. 25 and 26

This Year's Fair Promises to be Bigger and Better than Ever

Arrowwood district has sponsored a School Fair for the past five years, and the unstinted co-operation of the parents and residents of the community has always assured the children of a worth-while and memorable occasion.

The School Fair is conducted as a co-operative enterprise between certain Government agencies and a committee of local people. The Government agencies concerned with the Fair are, the Provincial School of Agriculture, the Agricultural Representative, the School Inspector, and the Department of Education. Every school participating in the Arrowwood Fair is represented on the local committee.

While organizing the Fair this committee has in view certain objects which may be briefly summarized as follows:

1. To stimulate in the children an interest in the activities of the home and farm.
2. To increase their knowledge of the principle and practice of farming and home economics.
3. To encourage the teaching of agriculture and home economics in the rural schools.
4. To increase the interest of parents in the work of the school.
5. To raise the standard of work done by the pupils in all departments of the school.
6. To correlate the courses in science with agriculture and home economics.

Seeds are distributed to the children of every participating school in the spring. The children plant these seeds at home, care for their gardens during the summer and in the fall exhibit the products. Classes are open for live stock, grains, cooking, sewing, and school work. As may readily be seen, the underlying value of the School Fair to the child, is in the fact of all this preparatory work being done by himself. Not of course, without the previous aid and advice of his elders, but the final exhibit should be the product of the child's own labors.

In addition to the bulletin issued by the Department of Agriculture, describing the various classes, the local committee has issued a special prize list with a few extra classes added, and outlining the special prizes and scholarships to be awarded in addition to the regular prizes for first, second, and third place in each class.

Last year we held an excellent Fair. But this year, according to reports from the various schools, there are more and better exhibits than ever. So it behooves every competitor to put his best into the work to insure that satisfaction of a job well done on the day of the Fair—just two weeks more to go!

Fall Planting of Trees and Shrubs

There are two seasons for planting trees and shrubs—spring and fall. Most trees can be moved with least damage or check in growth if transplanted in the spring, as soon as possible after the frost has gone out of the soil and before the buds have opened. Fall planting may be done any time after the leaves have fallen, and before the soil is frozen too much to prevent digging.

Frequently more time is available for planting on the average farm just as the soil is freezing up than in the spring when the rush of seeding is on. As a result of the rush of spring work, planting intended to be done is often put off until next year. Since fall planting is practically as good as spring planting, the importance of the question of available time may be sufficient to decide in favour of fall planting.

There is little difference in the methods followed in fall and spring planting. It is very important to have the soil well soaked with water after planting so that the roots of the trees or shrubs will not dry out during the winter. If care is taken in setting the trees or shrubs and in keeping it well watered until freezing up, fall planting will give excellent results.

Evergreens and very tall trees do better if moved in the fall. It is very important to keep a large ball of earth around the roots of large trees in moving them. This can be accomplished to best advantage after the ground is frozen up. A trench is dug around the tree and it is moved when there are 18 to 24 in. of frost in the soil. Tree with the frozen ball of earth is tipped up and a stone-boat is slipped under it. The tree with its roots undisturbed in a frozen ball of earth can thus be moved to a new, prepared location with little injury or set-back. Trees, either evergreen or deciduous, eight to twelve feet in height, can be safely moved in this manner.

Rev. Ralph G. Rarick has for the last month and a half of his summer pastorate here, been making his headquarters in the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Melvin Eshom. He dined Monday with Rev. and Mrs. Andrew J. Kauffman.

Concludes Summer Pastorate Sunday

REV. RALPH G. RARICK

After conducting the special Harvest Day services Sunday he will return to his home at North Manchester, Indiana, where his coming is eagerly awaited by Mrs. Rarick and the three children. As Mr. Rarick amusingly puts it, his "boys are all girls". In age they are thirteen, eight and four, with the respective names of Evelyn, Elvera and Kathleen.

The Rarick home is right by the Brethren's largest college Manchester College. It is probable that the next Annual Conference of the Church of the Brethren will be held in North Manchester, as it was in June, 1929.

This is Mr. Rarick's second summer of church work in the Canadian Northwest. He served last summer as travelling evangelist among the churches, including Arrowwood.

In "signing off" this season he extends "very best wishes" to all his summer parishoners and his many friends and hopes all will co-operate and "carry on" in the promotion of spiritual interests in and around Arrowwood.

We understand that means are practically completed whereby Mr. Rarick has been tendered a position as District Superintendent for the Church of the Brethren in Canada. Should Mr. Rarick, after returning to Indiana and consulting with his family, see fit to accept this call he would become a resident of Arrowwood. It is hoped by all members of the church and numerous friends as well, living throughout Alberta, that this able expounder of the gospel, together with his talented wife and family, will decide to come and be one of us. In the meantime, bon voyage, Mr. Rarick.

John B. Munro

MOST men have hobbies and Mr. Munro, Deputy Minister of Agriculture for British Columbia, and vice-chairman of the British Columbia provincial committee of the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference is no exception.

He confesses that his chief relaxation is the study of early agriculture and the romantic history of the province in which he resides. He was born at Embro, Ontario, in 1892, and has been Deputy Minister of Agriculture for British Columbia since 1929.

Following public school education Mr. Munro took a course at the Ontario Agricultural College, securing his B.S.A. degree, and also at the University of British Columbia, where he secured the degree of M.S.A.

For a year or so he was assistant editor of the Agricultural Gazette of Canada and was also district supervisor of agricultural instruction at Armstrong. In 1922 he was appointed assistant agronomist of the British Columbia Department of Agriculture. He is a member of the Canadian Society of Technical Agriculturists and other kindred organizations.

Will Observe Thanksgiving Day on Oct. 12

Thanksgiving Day will be celebrated this year on Oct. 12. Official announcement of the passing of an order-in-council to this effect has been made.

Fixing a date by order-in-council for the observance of Thanksgiving Day separate from Armistice Day—or what is known as Remembrance Day under a bill passed at the last session of parliament—is a departure from the former practice. While Remembrance Day will be commemorated each year on November 11, the separate date for observance of Thanksgiving Day will be fixed each year by order-in-council.

LARGE INCREASE IN CATTLE SALES OVER THOSE OF YEAR AGO

A large increase in the sales of cattle at Canadian stockyards as compared with a year ago is noted in the weekly review of the department of agriculture issued Friday. Sales to date this year exceed those of the same period last year by approximately 49,000 head. Hog sales increased by 43,000 head.

Liberal purchase and shipments on export to the British market is reported; the total movement this week approximately 1,800 head, bringing the total exports to date this year to 16,000 head.

Only One Garage to be Open on Sundays

The four local garages have agreed among themselves that only one garage will remain open on Sundays to supply oil and gasoline to motorists. The garages take turns at remaining open. The new arrangement commenced last Sunday when the West End Garage was on the job. Next Sunday Wein's Garage will be open. Cards have been printed and will be placed in the windows so that anyone driving up to a closed garage will be able to see at a glance which garage is open on that particular Sunday.

Seventy-five years ago tomatoes were called "love apples," and were cultivated for ornament, not for food.

Regular Monthly Meeting of the Arrowwood U.F.W.A.

Fifteen members and seven visitors met at the home of Mrs. R. H. Bishop to hold the regular meeting of the Arrowwood Local of the U. F. W. A. on Wednesday afternoon, September 2nd.

Papers and reports on Education, Immigration and Sun-shine work were given by Mrs. M. H. Ward, Mrs. M. Leonard, and Mrs. J. Mackie, Sr. A round table discussion on Sandwiches and School Lunches, led by Mrs. J. C. MacLeod, and Mrs. Gaylen Jones, added much to the afternoon's program. Mrs. E. Swanson also read a very interesting paper on the "Making of Sandwiches."

The next meeting of the U. F. W. A. will be held at the home of Mrs. R. R. Saunders on Wednesday, September 16th.

Prairie Farmer Standing Good With Creditors

Despite the vicissitudes of the past three years, the Western Canadian farmer seems to have kept in good standing with his principle creditors. Official figures which have just become available indicate that over eighty percent of farm mortgages on the prairies were paid up to date at the end of 1930. It is doubtful whether other types of Canadian business could, on the whole, present such a good showing in their long-term borrowings.

About half of the mortgages against western farm lands are in the hands of Canadian life insurance companies, and the most accurate view that can be obtained of the western mortgage situation is given by figures compiled for the insurance authorities at Ottawa.

The latest of these show that at the end of last December drought, a record low price for wheat and all the current difficulties with which the prairie wheat producer has been faced had brought only $15,000,000 of the $80,000,000 borrowed on mortgage by the prairie from the insurance companies into arrears. Considering that the average total of such loans in default has been well over $10,000,000 for the past ten years the current figure is surprisingly favorable. It will cause little worry to lenders who have seen the west go through other lean years and emerge from them unhurt.

Any general policy of foreclosure is highly improbable, for a very practical reason. From the lender's point of view the farmer is just as good security as the farm itself. He keeps the weeds off the land and sooner or later he harvests a good crop and pays up. The only type of farmer who need expect strict measures this winter is the rare one who would like to shirk his debt, and this because he himself is bad security.

As One That Serveth

In the extant literature of ancient peoples work on land and in the army is lauded but trade was held in contempt. During the palmy days of Greece and Rome the slaves and plebeians might carry on trade but it was quite beneath the dignity of a patrician. Even as late as the days of Napoleon England was called that nation of shop-keepers.

But the pendulum seems to have swung the other way. Too often the sole aim of life is to get into business or build up a big business. Even the professions are viewed from this standpoint. The successful doctor or teacher or clergyman is the one who can demand highest for his services and make his income yield the largest display. But we are glad to see the dollar basis of judgment weakening.

Here as elsewhere truth lies in a middle course between two extremes. The merchant, because of his occupation, is neither contemptible nor exalted. From producer to consumer sounds good but it does not work. Even in such great organizations as the Wheat Pool there is a marketing or merchant department to bring buyer and seller together. And isn't that the task of every one? Even the teacher learns geometry from one, to teach it to another.

But the local merchant is preeminently the middle man and we can understand how, amid invoices and drafts, he may lose the vision of his own task. But the world over, he stands between the need of the customer and the source of supply. He reaches into California and obtains for the nurse in an Alberta Hospital the orange for her patient. Then let us look on him, not as the man who charges more than he pays for an article, but as the one who reaches all over the world to supply our need.

UNUS SOLUS.

Always Profitable

You may worry when you're weary.

You may worry when you're well;

You may worry when life's dreary

Or when buds begin to swell;

You may worry in December

And keep worrying in May,

But in any case remember

That you cannot make it pay.

You may worry when disaster

Hovers o'er you in the night;

You may worry when your master

Has declined to treat you right;

You may worry when they've taken

The last chance you had away.

But the fact remains unshaken

That you can't make it pay.

"Good mornin', Missus Smith."
"Good mornin', Missus Jones."
"What's th' matter w' yer arm?"

"Oh, Missus Smith, I tripped on th' step o' th' Green Man yesterday evenin' an' broke it. They've no right t' let 'em 'ave steps as isn't even w' th' sidewalk. Missus Smith. Anyway, me family doctor at th' Dispensary fixed it up and it's feelin' better now—well, 'e ain't exactly a doctor, 'e's a bone-setter. As they say, 'Pro bono publico,' 'e's fer th' bones o' th' peepul'."

If there were more of such as this "family doctor" in this good old world today than there is, it would be a better old world than it is—men and women who are "fer th' bones o' th' peepul'" or for the homes of the people or for the good of the people generally.

After all, the real—not the superficial or temporary—interest of the individual and that of society should not conflict. The individualistic and the socialistic concept are but "two aspects of one great unitary fact." This fact is life—not a thing but a process. "If," says one, "individuals did not constitute an organized society; if each person lived incased in an impenetrable shell of self-sufficiency; if there were no bond uniting all together in one common set of activities and one common destiny; if there were no common ideal towards which all are striving—then there would be no need for education."

Not only, therefore, does the need for education thus arise, but, because life touches life in social activity, the possibility for an education is obvious.

The great problem of the world today—always has been and always will be—is to bring into equitable and just relationship these two concepts, the individualistic and the socialistic.

What may be said of the individual man or woman may be said also of communities, national as well as others. Herein may be found the very best of reasons why the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference to be held at Regina in 1932 will take its place among many other great movements, (though it may not be designed specifically for the purpose), which have and will wield an enormous educational influence in forwarding a solution of the problem suggested. It therefore deserves the support of every citizen.

Every merchant and business man uses printed matter, such as letterheads, envelope or business forms. If you have a printer in your town just think of him, for in order to stay there he has to find the means whereby he can buy food and clothing. When some high-pressure salesman is tempting you to give him an order for his firm located many miles away, think of your local man and give him your support. Remember, he is like yourself; he can only continue if he receives the patronage of the community.

In some cases the local printer may be tempted to charge a little more, due to his restricted buying powers, but then you have had to do the same. He, too, may be induced to send his cash away, but the chances are he will prefer to deal with the man who is trying his best to build up the welfare of the community. We cannot have a good business centre without some wide-awake merchants, but let us remember that a good printer gives the touch much to be desired in a progressive, go-ahead town.

You will find him ready to show you his samples of stock of paper. He is personally at your command at all times; he makes the deal with you and delivers it to you in person. To you this is much more satisfactory in the way of service and personal responsibility than dealing with outside firms. Make your selection of stock and let your local printer do the rest. Reciprocity will be established and the community will be the better and richer.

Wife (returning from the party): "Do you realize what you did?"

Hubby: "No, but I'll admit it was wrong. What was it?"

Kiwanis: "Who made the best speech at the banquet last night?"

Lion: "Some dub at the foot of the table. He said he was tired and wanted to go to bed."

Sunday will be a "high day" at the Church of the Brethren. It is designated "Harvest Day." In other words, it will be a day of thanksgiving and praise as we "count our blessings" and contemplate the harvest favors of sunshine and rain and golded grain we experience in "this our Father's world".

A service will be held in the forenoon at 11:30, in the afternoon at 2:45 and in the evening at 8:00. The respective themes of these special services will be "Harvest, Home, and Heaven".

A basket dinner will be served in the dining room of the church for all attending and participating in our Harvest Day.

Everybody cordially welcome. Be in the crowd. Come!

To the Unwhipped

Agriculture in Western Canada without co-operative marketing is unthinkable.

Co-operative marketing without grower control is unsatisfactory and undesirable.

The agricultural producers of Western Canada have spent much time, labor and money in building up their co-operative movement.

The experience of the years teaches that this should not be idly laid aside, as a wearied child does with a toy.

The Alberta Wheat Pool, it can be fairly and truthfully said, is the epitome of the farm effort to build up substantial producers' co-operatives in Alberta.

Along with the other two prairie pools, this organization has suffered financially through over-payments to the membership.

The depression which has enshrouded the world for the past two years has created unprecedented conditions, and involved almost every phase of business in huge losses.

The Canadian pools, being a larger organization with ramifications over all the world, and doing business with dozens of nations, simply could not avoid losses in the face of the prevailing conditions.

And it should be remembered that the pools suffered to no greater extent than many private enterprises.

The immediate question is: What of the future? Can producers' co-operatives stand hard knocks and hard times, or are they fair-weather institutions only?

The British consumers' co-operative movement, getting on to an hundred years old, got its knocks aplenty in the depression of ten years ago. Thirty-five million dollars and all the reserves went overboard with the sudden drop of prices, and with the British wholesale co-op. warehouse bulging with merchandise.

Did the British curl up and say "We're through?" They did not. Like beavers amid the ruin of a wrecked dam, they set to work to re-build. In ten years' time they had their $35,000,000 back, reserves built up, and were going stronger than ever.

The place for Alberta farm co-operators to start re-building is right with Alberta Wheat Pool elevators. By using this splendid system the entire structure may be regained.

This matter is very important. It cannot be too strongly impressed on every grower. The Way Back is Through Patronising ALBERTA POOL ELEVATORS

(By GRANTLAND RICE)

We are the ones to watch some day,
When the showdown comes at last;
We who have known the harder way
That led through a rougher past;
We who have trained upon defeat,
Battered and beaten back,
As long as the heart is there to meet
The call for a new attack.

We've battled the head winds, fight by fight,
In an endless jam with Fate;
We've floundered on through the pit of night
Where the black gales howled their hate;

We've taken our beating standing up,
And now with the calling drums
We lift our heads with another cup,
To the next hard scrap that comes.
Raw luck has lashed our softer roles
To a new red-heart romance;
It has burned the fat from around our soules
And given red blood a chance;
And when at last the tide has turned,
With blood-stained flags unfurled
We'll cut our way to the place we've earned
Where the unwhipped rule the world.

Health—Issued by the Canadian Medical Association

Used freely both within and without, water helps keep the body fit. Water can safely be used in abundance. The body is largely composed of water. Many foods we use contain a surprisingly large percentage of water. This is one way in which we secure the water we require but we should, in addition, drink water regularly.

It is impossible to say how much water we should drink each day. On hot days, we perspire much more freely than at other times. Physical exertion at work or at play also causes us to perspire. Because of these differences, we require more water in hot weather than we do during the cold season, and more if we are physically active than when we are resting quietly.

We are convinced however, that many persons would be better if they used more water. We suggest that a glass or two before breakfast and between meals is a drink habit that should be cultivated. It will keep up the supply of fluids the body requires, and will help to promote regular elimination.

There is no objection to the use of beverages with meals, providing the fluid is not used to wash down the food. A drink should never be taken while there is food in the mouth.

Another thing to avoid is the taking of a cold drink just before a meal. At that time, the blood-vessels of the stomach are dilated and the digestive glands are active. A flood of cold water at this time upsets this necessary arrangement for the digestion of the meal which is about to be eaten.

Drink cool, not iced water and drink it slowly during the meal. Eat slowly, drink slowly. Remember that moderation is the key to health.

The body should be kept clean by regular bathing. More baths are required in summer than in winter because we perspire more in the warm weather. A clean skin helps to keep the body healthy, makes for personal comfort and prevents disagreeable body odours.

Wash the hands thoroughly before each meal; this simple habit will do much to protect you from disease.

We are not suggesting any thing difficult here. Where there is water available, there is no reason why it should not be used freely.

Try to develop the habit of drinking water between meals and see if it does not help you to keep healthy.

How the weeks fly when you're finding money for the payroll.

Some men will take an awful lot of abuse to keep from paying their bills.

Feeding tobacco to sheep is the latest device to check internal parasites. The tobacco is given with salt in the proportion of ten pounds of salt to one of crushed tobacco leaf.

Latest available estimates place Canada's forest resources at 224,304 million cubic feet of standing timber, capable of yielding 424,637 million feet board measure of sawn lumber and 1,121,993 thousand cords of pulpwood, ties, poles and other smaller materials.

In the last analysis the railroad safety movement's success is traceable largely to teamwork. Each railroad worker is constantly reminded that safety is paramount. Safety practices have become habitual, therefore they do not lessen efficiency. Railroad passenger service is now more efficient as well as safer than ever before, says a prominent United States newspaper.

The new 6 1/2 hour service between Montreal and Toronto, both ways, which came into operation on Canadian Pacific lines end of April, has proved highly popular with travellers, and heavy traffic on these trains is reported. Ottawa has also been brought half an hour closer to Montreal and passengers for Quebec have had 15 minutes clipped from the time of the journey.

Popularity of the reduced weekend fares which went into effect May 1 on all Canadian Pacific lines was assured from the start, according to reports from traffic officials of the railway. They represent a saving of approximately 33% to the travelling public with reduced fares available from noon Friday to noon Sunday and return portions up to midnight of the Monday following. (740)

One of the largest and most courageous engineering undertakings on the continent is proceeding at the Abitibi canyon, Abitibi River, near Cochrane, Northern Ontario, where a plant is being built to generate 250,000 horse-power at a cost of over $20,000,000.

"British steel for Canadian produce," is the slogan lettered on massive shaftings unloaded at Saint John recently for shipment over Canadian Pacific Railway for use in hydro-electric development plants at Beauharnois, Quebec, and in the valley of the Ottawa River.

France should prove an excellent market for Canadian wheat since she has not committed herself to regulated purchases of wheat from Central European countries, said Hon. C. A. Heary, French Minister to Canada, interviewed at the Windsor Station, Montreal, on his way to present credentials at Ottawa.

Relayed to twenty-two stations between Quebec City and Victoria by Canadian Pacific Telegraphs the speech of the Prince of Wales, opening the British Trade Fair in Buenos Aires, was clearly heard across the Dominion. The broadcast was brought to Canada direct from Buenos Aires by the short wave beam system of the Canadian Marconi Company.

What the Ice Age looked like, millions of years ago, is exactly pictured in the great Columbia icefield, extending for hundreds of miles in the Rockies, and easily accessible from Lake Louise, said Walter L. Payne, in a recent lecture entitled, "On Herseback to the Glacial Age." The field extends in the form of glaciers to three sides from which mighty rivers run to the Arctic, Pacific and Atlantic oceans.

Champions of the Railway-Phone League and winners of the Beatty Trophy and the Thompson Cup, the Canadian Pacific Railway hockey team, were individually presented with gold watches suitably inscribed, the gift of E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the system, in honor of their victory, at a banquet at the Place Viger Hotel, Montreal, recently. The team will play Winnipeg at the end of March for the all lines hockey championship of the Railway. (719)

Robert Anderson, who has been residing a mile northeast of town, and who was connected in a business way with the hall that was burned in the Arrowwood fire of Sunday morning, July 5th, moved by van today to Calgary.

Rev. Ralph G. Rarick accompanied Frank P. Dettler on a round trip motoring of 226 miles Tuesday, going southeast beyond Redlaw. The men report that, outside of the hours of driving through rain and mud and skidding off into, and working themselves out of, a ditch on a winding, downhill, treacherous trail, nothing much happened.

Sunshine and Rain

"Sunny Alberta" can also boast of a rainy day or two every once in a while, when the sky actually gets murky and the earth muddy. This was proven by the weather of Tuesday and Wednesday.

"Sunshine and rain and harvest of golden grain" is one line of a song, and pertinent to our present gratifying harvest season.

Everybody seemed to welcome the laying of the annoying dust and the increased moisture in the soil, only some would have postponed it a few days or a week until the harvesting could be furthered and finished. But wouldn't it be a truly long, dry spell if rain came not until there was absolute unanimous decision with us here for us to give it the "go" sign?

On the whole this rainfall has been a real blessing and worth much to our thirsting rolling prairie. Our precious trees now stand a better chance of chance of making it safely through the winter with a new lease on life next spring.

Here and There

Annual value of forests products in Canada is placed around $500,000,000 by the Canadian Government Forestry Service, and over 200,000 persons are employed in this work.

Total value of crude bullion, gold in Ontario for the first two months of 1931 is placed at $5,517,254 as compared with $5,352,395 for the same period of 1930, an increase of nearly 22%. If this continues, all previous records of gold output are likely to be exceeded this year.

Position of president of the Boy Scouts Association of Canada has been offered to and accepted by E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, whose interest in boy welfare has long been recognized all over the Dominion.

John Minard, section hand with the Canadian Pacific Railway for many years and pensioned at the age of 73, celebrated his 105th birthday April 2. He does not use glasses, eats well, sleeps well and enjoys life. He has no prescriptions for exceeding the century mark.

Sponsored by the Alberta Motorcycle Association, the Western Canada Motorcycle hill-climbing championships will be decided at Banff in the Canadian Rockies on May 24 and will be followed the same day by the Banff annual regatta.

Grain Smut Explosions

(National Crop Improvement Service.)

"In the Pacific Northwest, wheat smut spores live over winter in the soil and the ordinary treatment with formaldehyde is not effective unless there has been a rotation of crops which causes the smut spores to die."

"As a consequence, dense clouds of smut spores, which may be seen for miles, arise from the threshers and spread wheat contagion over the entire country," says Mr. P. Schleussner, Perth Amboy Chemical Company.

Sometimes when this smut cloud is properly mixed with air, a piece of wire or nail will strike a spark in the separator and the result is an explosion worse than a thirteen-inch gun, blowing machines to pieces and often killing and injuring the crew.

"The wheat smut tax amounts to millions of dollars. It is in most instances entirely preventable by treatment of the seed, but so serious has it become that the American Department of Agriculture has a separate grade for smutted wheat."

"It will be well for the Canadian farmers to prevent smut from ever getting entrenched while it is comparatively easy."

WAGIN' TUNG

Vol. 1, No. 4

Arrowwood, Sept. 10 1931

Items for Thot

Now is the Time to Prepare for the Future

In the course of about two weeks the rush of harvesting and threshing will be about completed in this district for 1931, and while it has not been a big year financially speaking, it has taught us all something that will help us when conditions improve. We do not have to look very far to the East to realize that after all our wheatlands in the famous Arrowwood district is one of the favored spots of Alberta, and as we ponder over the coming prosperity during the fall and winter to plan for a boosters' club, or a commercial club, or a chamber of commerce, for after all, it is up to the businessmen of our village and the progressive farmers surrounding it to make it what we want it to be.

Roads get rougher every mile;
Jog on, Jehosaphat, and show some style!
Mule's gone lame, an' hens won't lay;
Corn's way down an' wheat won't pay.
Hogs no better; Steers too cheap.
Cows quit milkin'; Meat won't keep.
Oats all heated; Spuds all froze.
Fruit crop busted; Wind still blows.
Sheep seem puny, an' I'll be darned.
Rye field's flooded, and the hay stacks burned.
Looks gloomy, I'll admit.
Jog on, Jehosaphat, we ain't down yet.

BANG! BANG! Next Tuesday opens the shooting season on the wild fowl. Those wishing to see us that day, we suggest that you come in on Monday night or postpone it until Wednesday morning as we expect to get "The Call of the Wild" and be there with our guns loaded.

A dapper young lover was driving down the road with his lady friend when he suddenly pulled up along side of the road and stopped. "What are you up to now, you young rascal," she asked. "I am up to 102 degrees F," he replied.
